

International design workshop

Held by the School of Architecture, Southeast University and Escuela Técnica Superior de Arquitectura de Madrid (ETSAM), cooperated with professor Jesús Ulargui and Javier Mosquera, this design workshop focuses on perceptions of image, space, form and materials as well as their interrelations rather than professional techniques. By making collage and models, this workshop aims to improve students' aesthetic and interest in design with gradual understanding of relationships between the individual, natural environment and constructed space.

SESSION July 1 - August 1, 2022

The course project "Online sharing of heritage found in daily life" is co-sponsored by the School of Architecture of Southeast University and the Secretariat of the Asian Academy for Heritage Management.

The project reflects the mainstream trend of the international cultural heritage conservation movement, emphasizing the discovery, recognition, interpretation and sharing of heritage stories and conservation awareness from the people around. It aims to adapt to and lead the trend of The Times and use cloud media to spread the concept of cultural heritage. In addition, the course arrangement is in line with the actual situation of the current epidemic. The results are remarkable by combining online lectures, local offline research by students, and short video assignments released by domestic and foreign online platforms.

Credits:

This online course of "Online sharing of heritage found in daily life" has a total of 32 class hours and 2 credits. Among them, there are 16 hours of research lectures, and 16 hours of seminars on topics discovery, value interpretation, script writing, filming and editing, sharing and publishing of students' short videos.

Student teaching management:

In accordance with the management regulations of Southeast University summer school, combined with the relevant management systems of domestic and foreign cooperative universities.

Teaching is closely related to heritage protection and history and culture. The short videos produced must be jointly reviewed by Chinese and foreign classrooms and do not involve political and religious conflicts before they can be released online in the name of courses.

Students who have completed the credits and completed the short video publishing assignment will be awarded a bilingual Chinese-English bilingual certificate and corresponding credits.

Assessment evaluation:

Full credits and at least 70% attendance for online lectures and seminars.

Completion of production and publication that meets teaching requirements.
